

The Last 24

Everything that happened in technology

on Saturday, 27 June 2026

Flip through to read more →

● TECHNOLOGY

India Launches World's First Nuclear-Powered Hydrogen Production Facility

India has started the world's first hydrogen production facility using nuclear technology, marking a historic milestone in

via The Business Standard ✓

TECHNOLOGY

Uttar Pradesh Emerges as India's Next Major Investment Destination

Uttar Pradesh is rapidly positioning itself as one of India's most attractive investment destinations, driven by

● TECHNOLOGY

Digital India's Cybersecurity Gap: Why Technology Alone Cannot Protect the Nation

A Deccan Herald analysis argues that India's digital security posture cannot rely solely on technology tools, highlighting

● TECHNOLOGY

India startup funding tops $1 billion in a week as CRED mega-round powers sharp rebound

India's startup ecosystem has crossed the $1 billion mark in weekly funding, driven primarily by a mega-round raised by

● TECHNOLOGY

25% of Indian tech services firms have moved AI experiments into production: Nasscom

A new Nasscom report reveals that 25% of Indian technology services companies have successfully transitioned their

The Last 24

The full brief, every day:

thelast24.in

Everything that mattered in India, in five minutes.

