

The Last 24

Everything that happened in AI

on Sunday, 28 June 2026

Flip through to read more →

● ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

China Develops AI Cybersecurity Tool Said to Match Anthropic's Mythos

China has developed a new artificial intelligence-based cybersecurity tool that researchers describe as being on par

● ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Google Caps Meta's Use of Gemini AI Amid Capacity Crunch, Hitting Meta's AI Operations

Google has placed limits on Meta's access to its Gemini AI models, according to reports from the Financial Times and

● ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

OpenAI Unveils GPT-5.6 Series: Meet Sol, Terra and Luna — But Access Remains Limited

OpenAI has launched the GPT-5.6 series, comprising three new AI models named Sol, Terra, and Luna.

● ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Anthropic Resumes Limited Mythos 5 Rollout After US Eases Export Restrictions

Anthropic has resumed a limited rollout of its Mythos 5 AI model following a relaxation of United States export

● ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

OpenAI Unveils Sol, Terra and Luna AI Models — US Government Blocks Wide Release

OpenAI has announced three new AI models named Sol, Terra and Luna, but the US government has stepped in to block

The Last 24

The full brief, every day:

thelast24.in

Everything that mattered in India, in five minutes.

